PDR Topic - To have a separate tab for investors to check the new inventions made in the industry

About the PRD

The main intention of creation with this PRD is to basically use LinkedIn for investors to use the app to not only have a professional page which displays their education and professional details but can have the same app to understand the current investments and trends going on in the market and can have an overview on the same

1. The initial page would give you the normal login which the person would do when he has a page created on LinkedIn

3. Once in the investors section he can view the below pointers

Home - Where he gets update to all the trends going on in the market related to his choice of investment area or domain (eg Finance/Tech/FMCG)

Network - Would be related to the other investors that he he knows who have the same profile created as him

Analytics - Which gives him the basic cats and trends that gives him a clarity on the current market positioning

Portfolio - This tab will give him updates on all the post done by the company in which he has invested in

We have also given the basic options of follow and comments as well wherein they can put in their feedback to the posts and share it
